PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

by

MRS. MARLENE SCOTT

Rt. 2, Box 178-C

Raleigh, N.C. 27610

It is with a sad heart that I write this message. Since your last Review, we have lost two beloved members, Mary F. Casey and David George Cowie. We extend our heartfelt sympathy to their families. I know that everyone knew Mary Casey, a great Pom lady. George was the husband of Anne Cowie, a long time breeder of Poms and presently an A.K.C. judge. Their deaths are a great loss to the Pom world.

The upcoming big event for the Pom Club will be our Summer Specialty to be held in Des Moines, Iowa, Labor Day weekend. Our show chairman is Mrs. Henry Hochstedler, Box 117-B, Kalona, Iowa, 52247. Contact her if you need information concerning room or camping accommodations. We always have a good time at our Specialty Shows, and I hope you will support this one with entries and trophies.

I had a very frightening experience with one of my Poms at a show last month. I want to pass it on to you mainly to prevent its happening to another Pom. I do not normally feed the dry, small packaged dog food, which looks like ground beef, of which there are several kinds on the market. Although I usually feed a kibble with beef mixed in it, I used to keep the other kind of dog food just to take to shows, because all the dogs like it and will eat it when they will not eat any other kind. I had a Pom who didn't like the kibble, so I fed her one-half package of the dry food. A heavy water drinker anyway, this little Pom drank a great deal of water after the dry food. The water puffed the food up to twice the size it was when taken into the stomach. This condition is called torsion, and is the same thing as bloat in cattle. The little Pom went into shock and would have died if the Vet had not given her the proper care. Several other handlers have had dogs die from torsion, brought on by feeding this type of food. The bad part about torsion is that it is very difficult to diagnose, so be careful of this dry food, especially if you have a dog who drinks a lot of water.

Let me hear from you. See you at the shows.

AMERICAN POMERANIAN CLUB, INC.

This club is devoted to encouraging the owning, breeding and exhibiting of the Pomeranian dog and the protection and advancement of the breed.

We are currently offering membership to all who are interested in these principles and aims.

If you are interested in joining the Club, please contact the Secretary, or if you only wish to subscribe to the "Review" contact the circulation manager. Address on page 3, Review.

CLUB PINS

Some of our newer members may not know that Club Pins are available for purchase from the Treasurer Mrs. Goldie K. Mandley, 501 Dover Rd., Glen Burnie, Maryland 21061. These are very attractive enamelled replicas of the Club Seal in the Club colors of Blue and Gold, and they cost just $5.00. Make check payable to the American Pomeranian Club, Inc. and send with order. Only CLUB MEMBERS may purchase and wear pins. Size is 7/8 of an inch, not too big for men to wear as a lapel pin.

SECRETARY'S REPORT

by THOMAS E. DANIELS
72 Davis Road
Southwick, Ma. 01077

As this is written, I am still trying to recover from the shock of Mary Casey's death. On May 8, Mary was in the ring at the Springfield Show when she suffered a Cerebral Hemorrhage. She passed away 2 days later. Mary started me in Poms about 6 years ago and had been my mentor ever since. For me especially and all of those who knew her, Mary's passing will leave a void. May she Rest In Peace.

The Board has approved the following Specialties:

For information, please contact Ms. Sherry McNerney, The Pomeranian Club of Greater Houston, 3423 Roaming Woods Lane, Spring, Texas 77380.

The plans for the Summer Specialty on September 5, 1976 in Des Moines, Iowa are shaping up. Ken Miller will be the Specialty Judge. The Show on September 4 to be held in Newton, Iowa, will be judged by Keith Browne. For those who wish to attend both shows, transportation will be provided from Des Moines - Ramada Inn - to Newton. Speaking of Shows — the date for the Parent Club Specialty is February 13, 1977. This year, we are moving to a new location — The Loew's Summit Hotel, 51st & Lexington Avenue, New York City.

The Breed Judge will be Mr. Joseph Faigel. Sweepstakes Judge will be announced later. More announcements regarding advertising and trophies are contained elsewhere in The Review. Your support and cooperation for the 1976 Show was great and we hope that it will continue for the 1977 Show.

The Annual Report was completed and mailed in April. I hope all members received their copies. If you did not, please contact me and I will forward a copy to you.

Please refer to your Members Address Listing and make the following change: Charles & Jacqueline Liddle — DELETE New Mexico (NM). CHANGE to read Minnesota (MN). Street address & Zip Code shown are correct.

All Club Members and Pomeranian Review subscribers were advised by letter (6-13-76) that Sophie Mayes has reconsidered resigning and withdrawn her request. She will continue on as Editor of The Pomeranian Review. If you did not receive a copy of that letter . . . here's a short recap. The primary problem was "misinformation" especially re: the Board voting to censor all Editorials. This was discussed but not so voted. We have discussed all of this with Mrs. Mayes and the mutual feeling is that we now put this matter aside and get back to working together for the progress and the good of our Club. We are pleased that Sophie has reconsidered.

The next Board Meeting is scheduled for October 13, 1976 — The Loew's Summit Hotel, New York City.

COVER STORY

BY JODI HUDSPETH

Like a buttercup in the springtime, so my bouncing, sailing "Buttercup", lifts my heart all the year round. The bright orange charmer on the cover is "Ch. Wheeler's Bon Peppi's Buttercup", shown going Best in Show at the February 20th, Valdaosta Kennel Club All Breed Dog Show under Judge Ed. Bracy. "Buttercup" is a 5 lb. solid Pom with a proper stand off double coat of correct texture and can't be beat for soundness. She finished her title at eleven months with only one defeat from the classes, and now has thirty-four BOB's and twenty group placements. This hasn't turned her head though. If you come to visit us, she will greet you with her cha-cha-cha and a smile and a kiss.

"Buttercup" was sired by that great little Pom, TOP Toy 1974, "Randy's Jolly We Peppi. "Peppi" is also the sire of two lovely little males that live with "Buttercup". They are Honeycrest Moonraker and Honeycrest Ruth Tutn' Rasbery. "Moonraker" caught the eye of many at the American Pomeranian Specialty in New York in February as he took the puppy class. This beautiful golden cream, with his royal carriage has 9 pts. from the puppy class and should finish soon.

"Rudy" (Honeycrest Rutn' Tutn' Rasbery) set the Tarheel Circuit to buzzing as he twice went over two BIS Specials to Best of Breed, and went on to a Group Two, and for an encore, a week later went BW for a 5 pt. major at the Chicago-Western Pom Specialty. My cup runneth over.

Buttercup, Moonraker and Rudy and seven other Poms live happily with several Yorkies and Shih Tzu, at home in Marietta, Georgia just out of Atlanta. We love company, so if you are ever in Georgia give us a ring and you all come.

I wish to thank all the wonderful Pom people I've met for their friendship and help, and all the great judges who have been so generous to "Buttercup" and the boys.

MARY F. CASEY

Mary Casey suffered a cerebral hemorrhage in the ring at the Springfield Show on May 8 and died without regaining consciousness two days later, the evening of May 10. The Pom fancy was stunned. Mary was such an active and vital person, it was almost impossible to visualize her as being ill, and now she was gone. She was only 51 years old. Her devotion to the breed dates back to 1960, when she received a pet male Pom as a Christmas gift from husband Francis ("Case"). They decided to get him a companion the next spring and purchased a female, to have "just one litter", sired by a champion stud. As many of us know from personal experience, after that first litter, you are "hooked" and one thing just naturally leads to another. The many outstanding Poms produced through the years bearing the Caseys' prefix "Topaze" made their kennel one of the most prominent in the east. We are happy to hear that "Case" will continue with the kennel operation.

Wise choice of early breeding stock, a dedication to producing and exhibiting always the best, soon made Mary well-known among the New England dog people and led to her involvement in a number of all-breed clubs as well as the Bay Colony Pomeranian Club. She was elected to the Board of Directors of the American Pomeranian Club, served faithfully for many years during which monthly meetings were held in New York City, and became President on a ticket dedicated to making the Parent Club truly national in scope. Following her two terms in office, she remained on the Board where her advice was much sought and heeded. She served as Show Chairman two years in a row for the February Specialty Show, and finally as Corresponding Secretary. Forced to resign this office last year because of her husband's serious illness, Mary never refused to give help and advice when needed by the relatively inexperienced Club officers and committee chairmen.

Mary F. Casey, is seen in this familiar and typical pose, handling Am. & Can. Ch. Topaze Sir Blitzen. Her smiling face not only shows her enjoyment of our sport, but illustrates her favorite motto: "Remember, always keep smiling".

Meanwhile, closer to home, Mary served 9 terms as President of the Bay Colony Pom Club. This club had become quite inactive, but she reorganized it and instilled the membership with new enthusiasm. Many match shows were successful and their Annual Specialty has continued to draw an excellent entry. When she left office last year, both she and "Case" were made Life Members of the Club, as recognition for their efforts.

She belonged to the South Shore Kennel Club, was a past President of that organization and currently serving on the Board. She also belonged to the Hockamock Kennel Club and served on that Board for several years and then became delegate to the Pure-Bred Dog Breeders Referral Service — a New England-wide service to advise potential purchasers of ethical breeders with stock available, to combat the puppy mills and pet shops selling substandard puppies. Mary was the founder of the Referral Service and served as its President until her death.

She was also a co-founder of the Pilgrim Pekingese Fanciers Club and continued as a member, although no longer breeding Pekes. She was slated to serve as Match Show Secretary for their first Plan A Match.

She was an active member of the Board of the Yankee Miniature Pinscher Club of the Bay Colony. She was to serve as Show Secretary for their upcoming first Specialty Show.

Still another first was the founding of the all-toy club, the Classic Toy Dog Club, a New England organization of which she was President.

With this tremendously long list of achievements and her involvement in so many different club activities, it is no wonder that we say her passing will leave a void difficult if not impossible to fill. Besides all this, Mary was a true and concerned friend to those who knew her, always ready to help with sick dogs or other problems. Her pleasure in exhibiting her beautiful Poms was obvious and well-known to all — dog shows were her hobby and more than that, her only recreation. It is fitting that she died in the show ring, where she was happiest.

We are indebted to Mrs. Marianne Grybinski for the details of Mary's activities in New England. Mrs. Grybinski wrote: "I miss her so terribly, I'm really lost, we were so close. We were as close as any sisters could be. We talked every day and were always going to various clubs together."

DALLAS - FORT WORTH POMERANIAN CLUB

By JEWEL ELLIS, Secretary

The club has changed the date of its fiscal year to April, therefore election of officers were made at the April meeting as follows: Douglas Baynham, President; Mildred G. Patrick, Vice-President; Jewel Ellis, Secretary-Treasurer. New Board Members are Mrs. B. G. McDonald, John D. Metz, Rosemary Wise and Opal Mosher.

We were very pleased with the success of our Specialty of March 19, 1976 although entries were down having an entry of only 45. There was an entry of 16 in the Puppy Sweepstakes, and I wish to add that I have never seen a more beautiful group of puppies.

Our Sweepstakes judge, Mrs. Lucille Meystedt, gave Best in Puppy Sweepstakes to Dorothy D. Bonner's BONNER'S STARCREST COQUETTE.

Mr. G. B. McDonald holds the Challenge Trophy as Judge Harold K. Bishop awards Best of Breed to Ch. Sunray's Li'l Beaver, owned by Theodore Dickinson, June Smyth & Carol Partain and handled by Beverly Griffiths. Twomey photo.

In the breed classes, judge Mr. Harold K. Bishop placed the wins as follows: Winners Dog went to Opal Mosher's TOMANOLL'S TINY TORNADO O'MAC; Winners Bitch, Best of Winners, Best of Opposite Sex and Best in Puppy Classes went to Dorothy Bonner's BONNER'S

STARCREST COQUETTE (this was a gorgeous 7 months old bitch); Best of Breed went to CH. SUNRAY'S LI'L BEAVER, owned by Theodore L. Dickinson & June Smyth & Carol Partain.

Our after-show dinner was very relaxing and enjoyable and as always it was a pleasure to visit with our many friends. There were 40 who attended the dinner.

We are now making plans for a fall show and hope it will be equally as successful.

REMINDER

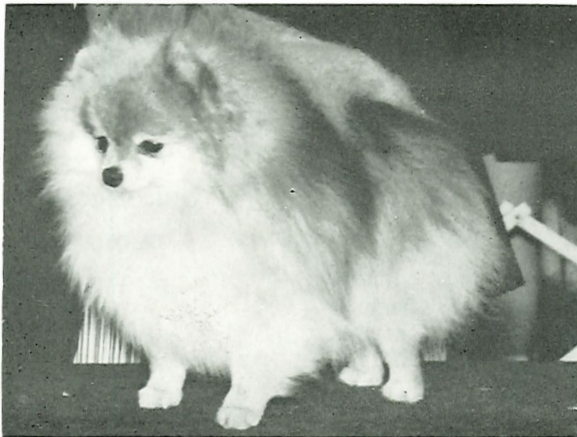

We received 3 different ads intended for the Center Spread, this time, and another 3 for the Inside Front Cover. Both spaces had already been reserved—so, of course, four advertisers were disappointed. These choice spots are available BY RESERVATION ONLY, although no prepayment is required. As we go to press, inside front cover and Center Spread are available for October.

NOTICE

We hope to get back on schedule with the October issue, so even though this issue is so late, we will stick to our usual August 20 deadline for October material. Anything coming in AFTER the deadline will be used at our discretion—that is, convenience. Otherwise, will be held for January. If you are waiting for a picture or have a last-minute Big Win, contact the Editor by phone for permission for late arrival. DO NOT mail anything Special Delivery or by Certified Mail as it has become increasingly difficult for the Editor to get to the Post Office.

BEST WISHES and CONTINUED SUCCESS

to

Dick and Sally Baugniet of Pomirish Kennels

OUR FEBRUARY 1977 SPECIALTY

This information was received from Show Chairman Thomas E. Daniels.

Our February Specialty will be on Sunday, February 13, 1977 and as usual will take place the day before the Westminster Show. We have changed the location to Loew's - Summit Hotel, at 51st and Lexington Avenue, New York City. We were forced to make a change because the Statler Hilton no longer wishes to host the various Specialty Shows which have been located there, and in accordance raised their fees to a totally exhorbitant and impossible level.

We feel the new location will actually work out to our advantage as the ballroom where we will hold the show is spacious, and rentals for that and the bedrooms are more reasonable.

The date and location has been approved by AKC and the Specialty Judge Mr. Joseph Faigel has also been approved. We are awaiting a decision on our Sweepstakes Judge and will let you know in October who it will be.

As most of you know, our 1976 entry was by far the largest since the Independent Specialty was reinstated in 1960. We ran the show ourselves and managed to actually make a PROFIT, instead of going deeply in the hole. Enthusiasm ran high and carried right through the entire day of judging and the Annual Meeting and the Dinner afterwards. We hope to crown success with GREATER SUCCESS and our goals are high in all facets of the undertaking.

We list the names and addresses of all Committee Members below for your information:

A VISIT TO POMIRISH KENNELS

With Dick and Sally Baugniet and Boys in Mishicot, Wisconsin

We finally have a day off from dog shows and teaching and gift shop business. What a horrible thought — congratulations on a Kennel Visit and no one home!

I loved dogs so much that I got one from my husband for a wedding present. When "Fritz" our Dachshund died, we bought a Pom, then bought two more, because I decided to raise them. After studying the A.K.C. standard for Poms, we gave two of them to good homes and decided that if we were going to raise Poms, we would raise the best ones we could.

The Baugniet's house and front yard with new kennel beside it, on left.

A puppy bitch, bred by Edna Girardot, was purchased from Varneys.

My self-education program began: I read all I could on the standard, grooming, handling, dog shows, etc.

When Bubbles was six months two days old, she went in her first show. Each show was an education for me. I watched what others did and asked lots of questions, and made lots of mistakes.

Fourteen months later my first Champion finished completely owner handled.

We had purchased a nice brood bitch with a beautiful pedigree from Edna, a puppy dog and a bitch from Randy Frech and a puppy dog from Sheila Marion. From this stock, we now have seven Champions, Bubbles now has her C.D. also, four others are pointed and some nice looking puppies are running under our feet.

Cream Puff (now pointed) at 2 mo. of age.

Cream Puff's litter sister, Bear N S. These two pups are from a repeat breeding of Donna & Smoky. The previous litter produced 2 champions.

Dick and I have four boys ages 15-20. Bob is the oldest. When he is not working as a cook at Fox Hills Inn and Country Club or not away to school at Stout University in Menomonie, Wisconsin, he helps with the dogs. He showed a Pom while I showed "Bubbles" and showed his first Irish Setters in an April Match. Rick, Jr. (18), Chris (17), and Mike (15), all help feed the dogs and man the shovel and hose.

Dick spends most of his time seeing that the mink ranch runs smoothly. When breeding, whelping and pelting time comes, he doesn't have time for building and fixing things for me, but in some of his not-so-spare time he sees that the dogs are taken care of and the house stays in an upright position when I am teaching or at dog shows.

Dick had the new kennel built and made all of the outside runs and inside pens himself. There are twelve pens which can house 2 dogs each and two large Pens which can accommodate older puppies or an Irish Setter in the new kennel. The older kennel has five Pom pens and an Irish Setter pen. The Irish are usually in their kennel below the hill, where Dick fenced in a large running area.

pressure hosed down for convenient cleaning.

The kennel was made with electric mats in the cement floor of the inside pens. These are on a thermostat which is regulated to keep the cement in the pens a luke-warm temperature. An electric wall heater keeps the kennel between 55-65 degrees F. in the winter.

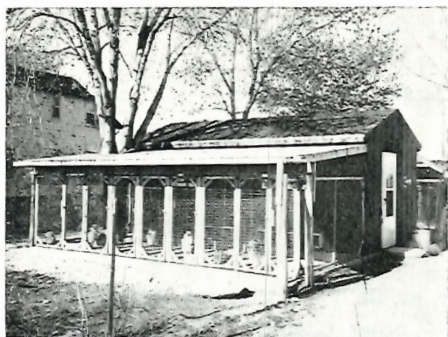

Two Norwich Terriers — Ch. Sugar and Ch. Alice.

The dogs can go in or out at will through plastic swinging doors with metal pieces at the bottom edge and magnets in base of the opening.

The kennel is built under some large Maple and Box Elder trees which keep the Poms cool in summer. All windows and doors have screens on them and the brisk west winds provide plenty of ventilations as they whisk over the golf course and up the hill to our Pom Paradise.

My interest in animals and genetics causes me to spend hours studying pedigrees. I have many breedings planned on paper via a pedigree. Some never come to be, but the results of those that did come to be are fun to observe as the little balls of puff develop and become what they are — some champions, some breeders, some pets.

Many thanks go to the people who have helped me and have become my friends in the wonderful world of Poms — especially Nadine Hersil, Edna Girardot and Randy Frech.

Here is the newly completed Pom kennel.

The Poms and Norwich Terriers are in the new kennel which has a storage room, a two section sink with draining room on each side, a small hot water heater, refrigerator, two trophy cases and lots of cupboard space where grooming, food supplements, medicinal and whelping supplies, etc. are kept.

There is a drain in the middle of the floor. All pens can be taken apart so the whole floor can be scrubbed and

We would like to encourage everyone to participate in the Summer Specialty at Des Moines. Let's support them with entries and attendance.

Thanks to the good Lord for giving me family who trys to understand what makes me tick and puts up with me, the dog shows and all of my furry friends.

This may be a dream, but there is a little pup running around out there right now out of my very first Champion "Bubbles" C.D., sired by my second champion "Sport". I call him my Best a Show dog. Even Nadine calls him that. Time will tell!

HELPFUL HINTS

BY MARGARET M. GORMAN

31134 East Wind

Fraser, Mich. 48026

A knee-high nylon stocking put over the head of a difficult bitch will prevent bites to you and your stud dog, according to Cindy Keller of Wyoming, Michigan. Because of the nylon's consistency, the bitch is able to breathe without difficulty, but she cannot easily pull the stocking off, if it is brought behind her ears. We tried this hint ourselves recently and found that it worked very well.

Pat DeLoughary of Westland, Michigan suggests giving a few drops of sugar water to Poms before going to the show to prevent a hypoglycemic attack brought on by the stress of showing.

We use the moist liver flavored cat food as show bait. The dogs love it, and it's convenient to use.

The kitchen is an excellent place to socialize puppies. Puppies which are used to hearing running water, clattering dishes and banging cupboard doors exhibit little fear at unusual sounds at a dog show. Lead training should include walking over various surfaces, cement, grass, carpet, tile and wood floors. A puppy that gaits flawlessly over these surfaces will not be surprised by anything he finds at the dog shows.

Feeding a hard meal to puppies will help loosen the baby teeth, according to some breeders, who feel that a too soft diet contributes to retention of baby teeth and faulty bite.

Chlorophyll tablets given a bitch in season will prevent anxiety among the kennel studs by masking odor. The tablets do not interfere with breeding.

Do you have a hint that will make taking care of our Poms easier? Please share it with us. I'll be waiting to hear from you.

EDITORIAL

At the May Board Meeting, as most readers know, the majority of the Board reaffirmed their belief in a Free Press and voted to ask your Editor to reconsider her resignation and continue with the Review. We are glad our Board has gone on record as backing the right of every reader to express his or her personal opinion, even though it may differ from that of the American Pomeranian Club, Inc. as represented by the Board. This was certainly a factor in the decision to reconsider, but the one thing that above all made it almost impossible NOT to continue was the tremendous number of letters and messages, both to the Board and to Yips & Yaps, supporting the principle of a Free Press and backing the right of the Editor — ANY Editor — to express a personal opinion in print.

The Board wishes to make perfectly plain to all that a motion was never made to censor the contents of the Review, and no official action was taken on this, although discussion did take place along these lines.

I feel sure readers will understand why none of those wonderful, supporting letters are printed in Yips & Yaps. The past is over and done with, we hope, and we should all turn our head forward: to our September Specialty in Iowa, to our February Specialty in New York and to all activities benefitting our breed and Club.

OUR MISTAKE

Jackie Klein asks us to say that she did NOT give "Chip" the Champion title prematurely in her April ad on page 17, it was added by one of us in typing up the copy. At this date, he has finished and is now entitled to be called Ch. Silver Meadows Sun-Dae Chip.

PUGET SOUND POMERANIAN CLUB INC.

ERIN HUNDLEY
2813 176th S.W.
Lynnwood, WA 98036

The Puget Sound Pomeranian Club's B-OB match held last March 13 at Totem Lake Shopping Center, Kirkland, Wash. was a great success, thanks to a lot of hard working committee members headed by Chairman Bernard Niehouse. We thank the exhibitors and our capable judges, Shirley Landa, Conformation and Valerie Robbins, Obedience. In spite of a brisk wind, all the poms looked good, Shirley Landa gave Best in Match to Alicia Kvamme's "Cedar Glen's Point Blank" and best puppy to "Harbins's Indestructible Jim" owned by Irene and Sylvia Harbin and shown by Sylvia. Best Opposite Sex went to "So Hi Gala Jubilee" shown by owner Bernard Niehouse.

Robbie Higbee of the "Higbee Bunch" put his "Andrews Sensational Vickie" through her paces for Judge Valerie Robbins and earned the Trophy for highest scoring Pomeranian with 188½ points.

Trophy's for Best in Match, Best Puppy, Open Bitch, Open Dog and Best of Opposite Sex" were lovely silver candy and butter serving pieces donated by Marianne Melville. All other trophy's, donated by Clyde and Phyllis Andrews, were wood base Winged Victory's.

After the match we all enjoyed dinner at the local Pizza Parlor. Ralph Harbin and Robbie Higbee topped off the celebration with Super Sundaes at Baskin Robbins Ice Cream Parlor. (I don't know where they put them after all that good dinner.)

Our match chairman, Bernard Niehouse does other jobs well. Virginia gets to all the meetings because Bernard is a willing chauffeur. He has served as club Treasurer in 1974 & 1975 and has been showing their own "So Hi's Gala Jubilee" (Mollie) at many local shows and matches.

We had a wedding in March on Wed., March 17. Darlene Pugh married William MacCune at St. Philomean's Catholic Church. It was a beautiful ceremony attended by many club members. The reception followed at the home of the bride. Mac has applied for membership in our club and has volunteered his services as club Historian.

Florence Ryals is a proud owner these days. The beautiful "Ch Skylark Cinnamon Banner," she bought from Shirley Hoffman recently returned from a three day weekend in Victoria, B.C. Three Dog shows sponsored by the Shoreline Kennel Club, 3Best of Breed, 2 Group Seconds on the 26th and 28th of March and Group 4th on the 28th. This gives him 9 points and almost his Canadian Championship. Congratulations to Florence, Shirley and Jean Schroll who handles him.

Irene Harbins "Scotia Madonna of Harbin" was Winners Female on one day of the same weekend.

The Andrews are pleased also these days. "Andrews Pics Jimbo" was winners dog at Kitsap County KC. He went on to take Reserve at Spokane and Palouse Hills, Winners Dog and Best of Winners at Richland and Yakima. This matches the record set one year ago by his uncle "Ch. Jambo's Ringo Kid of Andrews CD."

Erma White in Alaska took home honors in March also. "Shannon Melad" placed second in Puppy Class and "Andrews Pics Jimson" placed first in American Bred Class. Name of show not reported.

Correction: I goofed in last issue. I said Alicia Kvamme was a charter member of our club. The Kvamme's did not join until several months after we organized.

A fantastic accomplishment happened to one of the members in our small club.

Nadine Hersil's Ch. D-Nee's Darin' Dinadan did what we all dream of doing — "Danny" took Best In Show at Mason City, K.C., Iowa under Judge Derek Rayne.

"Danny" also took Gp. 1st at Winnegamie K.C., Appleton, WI. He took his first Gp. 1st exactly one year ago at the same show under a different judge.

"Danny" is owner bred and handled. Nadine well deserves the A.K.C. Professional Handler's License granted to her. She is doing a beautiful job in showing her and other's Poms — And She's Ours!

CLUB REPORTS

We hope for quarterly reports from ALL regional Pom Clubs, whether AKC recognized or not, and will devote as much space as requested to reports of regional specialties, with BOB cut FREE if sent in. NOTICE !

The Kenosha County Pomeranian Club has asked that I inform the readers of the Pomeranian Review of the fact that a former member of K.C.P.C. is selling "show quality" puppies whose ear leather has apparently been trimmed as very small puppies so as to make the ears smaller than they were born with.

This is in direct violation of A.K.C. rules on altering the natural appearance of the dog.

One of these puppies was entered at our "A" Match by an unsuspecting buyer and the puppy was disqualified by the judge. (A complete report of this match will be given in the October issue.)

We have Veterinarians' written proof of this having been done to three puppies from this breeder. There may be more we do not know about.

There are other violations pending.

This breeder is not a member of A.P.C., but is advertising in the Pomeranian Review.

THE DENVER - METRO POMERANIAN CLUB

By DAN MERCER

Rt. 1, Box 147

Big Springs, Ne. 69122

We had a nice turnout for our spring fun match in Denver. It was a beautiful spring day and everyone was glad as it has been a long winter this year. By the time this is published the Colorado Centennial Canine Circuit will be history. We are looking forward so much to this event as well as being able to meet the many people who have written that they plan to attend.

Mona Caldwell of Estes Park, Colorado was voted unanimously to serve on the Board of Directors. After the meeting and lunch we started the match. Matches are always fun as we all bring out our promising puppies and give them a turn in the ring. Most of us start them at 8 weeks. Our little 3 month old male puppy, Mercer's Dash O'Duke was best male puppy. Pat Clark's Patri-Ark's Singin Travalette was best puppy and Clara Wiese's Buddy again was best in match with Mona Caldwell's Sundot's Yulettime Angel going open bitch. Both Buddy and Angel are pointed now. Angel needs but a major to finish & Buddy is just starting his show career with a 4 pt. major & two pts. so far.

It has been a very busy spring at our house. We have a new born in April, Nathan Daniel, he is welcomed by his two big sisters Holly and Danelle. Plus we have had our usual spring crop of puppies before & after the big event. Speaking of whelping puppies I recently found out a new procedure of delivering breech puppies handed down to me by our very good friend Millie Reese in Denver. It worked so well for us thought I would pass it on. Before a bitch whelps I can usually tell if it will be a breech or not by gently feeling for the puppy's head. When she is ready for delivery and you can see the back feet, immediately get the bitch on a table. If two people are present it is best as one can hold the bitch on her feet and the other person is able to deliver the puppy. Now after you get a good hold on those back feet (don't let go of them) with a non-slippery cloth pull until you get the tail out then take another dry cloth and pinch the skin just above the tail base get a good hold & pull down. If you can come all the way out do so. If not, the next step is to grasp with both hands on each side of the rib cage pinching the skin again with cloths & pull all the way out. The puppy will just pop out and you will not injure the puppy by pulling with the skin. I feel I have killed many puppies by pulling too hard and snapped the spine as you "must" get them out fast or they die anyway. By pulling with the skin you are less apt to injure them and somehow they come easier and also you don't squeeze the life out of them. If you are by yourself you can still do it with one hand. You have to pinch the skin on the back and pull instead of the side as you need the other hand to hold the bitch.

Also as this is the stud issue, I would like to touch on another subject. This is when you are planning on sending out a bitch for service. Be sure to check her daily to see the "exact" day she starts her season. We have had several bitches sent for service this year that the owners didn't know for sure when she started. This really puts the stud owner in a bad position as we try everything possible to insure the person of getting puppies and sometimes this means giving four breedings to make sure we caught her and this is unnecessary. I know a lot depends on your stud but ours seems to be overly aggressive and will breed the first day if you will hold the bitch. Most of the bitches sent for service will fight the dog anyway so you really cant' tell for sure on her actions either. So check your bitches regularly and this way you will know for sure. It could mean the difference between a miss and a hit. This of

Club Happenings

The Purebred Dog Association recently sponsored a Breeder's Showcase, held at the Coliseum here in Houston. Fifty breeds were represented and the public was invited. The proceeds were sent to the S.P.C.A. Our club had a very nice booth set up replete with pictures of local Pomeranians; both stylish formal shots and cunning candid ones, a table bedecked in velvet, a lovely floral centerpiece, representative trophies, informative brochures published by the American Pomeranian Club, Inc., congenial club members to greet and chat with the interested visitors and last, but by far the most important ones in our showcase, the Pomeranians themselves! We had eight "lovelys" on hand all the way from Champion Dragonfly's Happy Talk to Myway's Cookie Monster, five colors represented.

Parades of the various breeds were held and also a parade of champions. Obedience exhibitions were well received and conformation practice and criticisms were offered with replay on television.

It was apparent that the Breeder's Showcase was enjoyed by exhibitors and visitors alike from all the "Ohs and Ahs" and general applause.

We have had some very excellent programs of late, thanks to our program chairman, Betty Anderson. Linda Miller gave a grooming demonstration and included a good general health program for the Pom which was appreciated by "old hands" and novices alike.

A movie made by Mrs. Dorothy Bonner of Aristic and Bonner dogs of the past was quite a highlight of a recent meeting. Once was not enough for the eager crowd and so they happily had a second viewing and savored every moment. What a delight to see so many fine dogs ordinarily seen in name only on pedigrees. Many thanks to Mrs. Bonner for filming them and to Karen Holder for getting them to us.

Show Talk

This is a delight! We have ever so many nice wins to report this time. All the folks in the club are getting those cuties out into the limelight of the ring where they obviously belong when the wins are reviewed.

Leo Lee owned by Florence Lawyer and handled by Gary Deorge went Best of Winners for three points in Lafayette, Louisiana and then took Best of Breed over a nice group of Specials. Congratulations to all.

Betty Anderson, owner of Duke's Wee Luck O' the Irish was so pleased when this little fellow took Winners Dog in Beaumont, Texas for two points out of the puppy class. That's wonderful!

Robinhood's Replica Replay owned by Norma O'Rourke stepped out at Lake Charles, Louisiana and earned Winners Dog for two points. Exciting!

Myway Troublemaker owned and handled by Molly Miller went Winner's Bitch in Austin, Texas for two points, Winners Bitch and Best of Winners in Lake Charles, Louisiana for two points, Winners Bitch and Best of Winners in Beaumont for two points, Also taking Best of Breed at both Lake Charles and Beaumont. Now, That's very nice.

Myway P.R. Trae owned by Karen Holder and handled by Molly Miller went Winner's Dog and Best of Winners for three points in San Antonio, Texas this spring. Really good to hear!

Jo-Art's Put Up Your Dukes co-owned by Art Davison and Olga Baker stepped out in Corpus Christi, Texas and went Winner's Dog for two points. Isn't that fine?

Kennel Visit

Our kennel visit this time is with the Harts of Alta Loma, Texas, and I shall let you read it as received. No need for any composition on my part. It speaks for itself . . .

SPOTLIGHTING A MEMBER

Dianna and Ray Hart began, as most dog people do, with a Pomeranian pet, Little Bit that they acquired from pet people and learned through this wonderful little creature the joy of having a Pom be a part of your family. Dianna, with Ray's full cooperation and interest, began the most concentrated of study of backgrounds, bloodlines, qualities, breeders, and breed "good's" and "bad's". Today she maintains two libraries of pure Pomeranian information . . . (1) files of Pom pedigrees that would be the envy of any Pom breeder (2) a brain filled with all kinds of good stored-up Pom information. She says this latter "library" always serves her quite well in remembering the breeding of various dogs, but frequently FORGETS things like when to pick up one of her 3 daughters from school, what Ray's work schedule is about, and WHEN to fix dinner!!!

Dianna became interested in dog showing right away, and began working toward that goal of getting good poms into the ring and breeding better and better ones. Concentrating her breeding program almost completely around the Aristic, Showstopper, Mayken, Bonner, and Duke Dragonfly bloodlines, she began acquiring her foundation stock. Dianna says that the help and guidance offered by other breeders has been so valuable to her . . . working particularly closely with Olga Baker, and Ken and Edith Rose Mayes, Dianna was able to buy, lease co-own, and breed to the point she has reached today. While Dianna was busy using up lots of dollars for acquiring the Poms she wanted, Ray was busily doing the same thing with his cattle and horses!! Today the Hart's live in Alta Loma, Texas, near Houston in what they call their "dream" place . . . lovely acreage on which their home, kennel, cattle and stock barns and buildings, exercise areas, etc., sit.

Dianna admits to this day that her very special love was beautiful little Tim Sue's Sparkling Butterfly who seemed just the one she had been waiting for. With her show career just beginning, Sparkle met an early and heartbreaking death from medical problems. The Hart's soon acquired the lovely male, Mayken's Bee Beautiful of Naona, who began their first streaks of winning in the ring. "Bee" finished his Championship soon, and all members of the Pomeranian Club of Greater Houston watched gleefully as the Hart's experienced the excitement of finishing their first Champion. Folks still talk about how Dianna was bouncing off the walls and ceiling when that happy event occurred!!!

Active workers in the Pomeranian Club of Greater Houston, Dianna and Ray are enthusiastic, interested in the future of our breed, and actively breeding quality pomeranians. They say they will never, ever, be without poms around . . . and find it difficult to understand anyone who DOESN'T feel the same!

WE REGRET TO REPORT THE RECENT DEATH OF TOP PRODUCER

1976 Stud Dog Register

This is Pomeranian Review's 1976 Register of outstanding stud dogs. On this and the following pages — and in some of the display ads — are stud dogs that, for their individual excellence, unique characteristics or special breeding, stand ready to help every breeder in the country. Inevitably, some owners of fine stud dogs failed to send their entries in, for one reason or another. But with so many represented, from every section of the country, and of so many different bloodlines, we feel that our Register, this year is very complete. May we request that when breeders send inquiries to stud dog owners, they mention: "I saw your stud card in the Review."

NUTRITION, Part II

At the time that this copy should be in preparation, yours truly will be in the British Isles. As I arrive home the day it is to be in the hands of the Editor, a guest columnist, Joan Chapman, will prepare the article.

I have known Joan for many years, and believe me, she is an authority on nutrition. Some of the results on heavily coated dogs, you would have to see to believe.

Joan was born in Highland Park, Illinois. Her apparent love for dogs was known at age five, when she was given a Cocker puppy. The family moved to Connecticut when she was in her teens. At that period of her life, Joan's father imported two Mastiffs from England. These she showed "in the Garden", in the late 1920's. Before moving to Florida, in 1963, she had owned and shown Mastiffs, Collies, Shelties, and Toy Poodles plus horses and ponies. After college graduation she worked in boarding and show kennels, learning the ins and outs of kennel management and dog care. With this background, she went in business for "paying guests". On retiring to Florida, again took in a limited number of "outside guests", and caring for her present breed, Australian Shepherds. In all the years in the dog care, breeding and boarding, she always fed natural foods . . . NO COOKING . . . NO PACKAGE FOODS and . . . NO CANNED FOODS. The balance of the article is the writing of Joan.

As the distressed lady was leaving the veterinarians office she asked "But Dr. what shall I feed my dog?" "Any good canned dog food" was the answer. After the client left, I turned to the vet who was a very good friend of mine and asked ". . . why don't you put clients onto a wholesome natural foods diet?" The response was ". . . for two good reasons. One, people just don't want to spend the time preparing meals for their dogs as you do and second, if they did, we would soon be out of business." Sounds unbelievable? Really it's not. It is simply feeding a diet of raw foods.

A dog in his natural state never had his food cooked for him, a can opened for him or commercially made vitamins, minerals or calcium prepared for him. When he killed for food, his instinct was to go for the vital organs which contained the vitamins, minerals and nutrients, finishing off with the meat skin and hair. Yes, hair which made up the roughage he needed. Later, he would partake of various grasses, herbs and berries.

But you say ". . . no way would I give my little Toys a whole rabbit or chicken!" No, you're not ready for this! However, a diet of raw foods will be most beneficial. No longer will you be troubled with obesity, poor appetites and poor litters. The change will be improved muscle tone, bright and alert little dogs.

The most important requirement of this diet is RAW meat. No not hamburger or top round ground but a combination of nourishing meats such as liver, tripe, kidney, heart with some lean meat. Preferably, this meat should be fed in small chunks as it keeps the stomach muscles toned up and the digestive juices flowing. For roughage, replacing the hair, the use of a small amount of raw bran (such as is fed to horses) should be sprinkled over the meat.

The need of vitamins comes with the greens. Any one or a combination of very finely chopped fresh parsley, water cress, celery tops or carrot tops are needed. Onion or garlic is most beneficial as they have the properties of sweetening and disinfecting the stomach. If you live where the dandelions grow, you are in luck. They are great! Sea kelp is most valuable as it is marvelous for pigmentation containing trace minerals as well as iron and iodine. Some form of oil should be introduced such as olive oil.

Cereal too is needed. As grain is not easily digested by the dog, it must be semi digested . . . slightly processed.

Shredded wheat is excellent being as near to being natural as possible. This goes for Rye Crisp also. We use the Rye Crips for the Toys. The cereal should be mixed with milk or vegetable juice with a little oleo. Raw honey added to this meal is most beneficial as it has great cleansing properties and is easily digested. Now and then we puree carrots and add to the cereal feeding.

Our feeding schedule these many years has been:

Puppies—from weaning to four months
8:00 a.m. Milk and honey (not dried milk)

Noon, Cereal, milk with oleo
5:00 p.m. (the main meal) raw meat, bran, greens, olive oil, kelp and garlic, egg shells ground to a powder is a natural source of calcium.

8:00 p.m. raw meat alone.
4 months to 7 months
Same as above omitting the 8:00 A.M. meal

7 months on throughout adulthood
Noon meal and the 5:00 p.m. main meal

In proportion, it should be one third cereal feeding to two thirds meat meal.

Puppies are fasted one half day once a week with one full day once a month. Dogs over seven months old should have all food withheld once a week. Of course plenty of fresh water should be available at all times EXCEPT for one hour before meals and one hour after. This will help do away with regurgitation and even bloat.

Here I might inject an important factor. When our dogs go off their feed or become ill, we NEVER force them to eat. Rather we fast them. Withholding food at this time gives the stomach and digestive system a chance to combat the problem whereas food overworks the system. Plenty of fresh water is beneficial as it cleans out the toxic material leaving the digestive tract clean. Following a period of fasting we give honey and water, with garlic given once a day.

If one is willing to try the natural foods diet, I'm certain he will find great improvement in the dog's overall condition.

First let me say how pleased I am that the board has refused Mrs. Mayes resignation, and that she has reconsidered and is continuing as our editor. I sat on the sidelines last August as a hard working group worked on the next issue and can really appreciate the amount of work, time, and enthusiasm necessary to get this magazine ready for us to read, and the fact it is always such a worthwhile publication says to me that she has to be the perfect person for the job.

This time I have a much more promising report on the future for a Pom fanciers union in Canada. We are not forgetting our main aim of an organized club, but because of the enthusiasm and ambitions of a very capable lady in Nova Scotia, we have every hope for a good Canadian Pomeranian magazine which I feel should be the instrument of our eventual union. I believe it is advertised elsewhere in this issue, and I urge your support via subscriptions, advertisements, and articles.

Someone has been spoiling things for the rest of us again, this time in the shipping of dogs via airplanes from the United States into Canada. The authorities in Vancouver found a shipment of drugs in a dog crate and you can imagine how they check into every cage now. One result is that incoming dogs must be cleared through customs at the first airport that the plane lands, regardless of its eventual destination. If you cannot meet the flight then it will be necessary for you to have arrangements made for a broker to clear customs for you. The papers necessary for this are the rabies vaccination, dated within one year of

We got such a kick out of the following poem that we asked permission to share it with the Pom Review readers.

I think
The most painful word
That I have ever heard
Is — RESERVE
It should be flung
From the English tongue —
RESERVE
They ought to know at any show
RESERVE is sure no ball!
A dozen dogs you beat
And for this feat
You get no points at all!

Someday if I have the dough,
I'll give a hundred bucks a show
To RESERVE.
For winners need no cash that day!
They took home the points — I say
Don't you think that one deserves
Something else besides the word
RESERVE?
That stilling, chilling
Second Billing
Word which leads to Mercy Killing — RESERVE — RESERVE!!

date of entry, and health certificate. I suggest any who might be shipping into Canada to thoroughly check routes, and airport routines before making final phone calls to the recipient of the dog.

While on the subject of bringing dogs into Canada I want to go into our system of tattooing for identification. As a CKC rule states that if a shipment consists of more than one dog, each must be tattooed and the information noted on the export, (or shipping) papers, then it will help to know how to be sure the tattoo is the right one. The new owner of the dog must apply for his own tattoo letters to CKC. No other owner may then use these letters. An imported dog is marked with this combination, and the number denoting the number of dogs imported by that same owner. For example my new Finnish Spitz from England is #GJN 7, on his left flank—either

Ch. Lennis's Tar Baby of Great Elms wishes to send congratulations to his daughter Lennis's Tar-Resia Perfection and her new owners, Morris and Betty Carson (Emcee's Pomeranians, Richmond, Va.), on the 5 pt. Major taken her first time out with her handler, Marlene Scott.

We had a great time and enjoyed your visit. Thanks for our new orange boy, Lennis's Tom Cin's Tobie. We think he will help in our chocolate breeding. You-all come again!

To those who have asked:

We have never bred Ch. Tar Baby to any of our chocolate girls until April of this year. We will let you know what we get.

flank or either ear may be used. These same letters are used by the breeder for individual marking of each puppy for registration. For these dogs an extra letter is added denoting the year of birth. If you bought a Pom, and found a tattoo GJN 17 F, then you would know I was the breeder, it was born in 1974, and was my 17th puppy that year. This identification must be done before the puppy leaves the dam. A breeder can noseprint instead if wished, but I personally feel the tattoo more efficient. Remember, however, the Canadian Kennel Club rule about this for they are very firm about not registering those not tattooed as the rule states. It will be common knowledge for many of you that our Canadian Kennel Club registration department has a reputation for being quite slow in the processing of documents. I thought you might like to know that things are really looking up, and it becomes easier all the time to look a buyer in the eye and say, 'Yes, Madam, this dog is registered.' If an applicant is careful when filling out the forms, then a litter can be registered within three weeks, and the individual papers back before the puppy is old enough to sell. Transfers of ownership are known to be processed within two weeks, and requests for paper supplies can be answered before your desk is ready for them. The additional fact that fees have gone up by leaps and bounds is not easy to accept, but probably we will have to admit that it is the reason for the accelerated documentation. (I wonder myself if it isn't because the number of applications has dropped as many puppy mill breeders break our livestock act and don't bother to register their pups now it costs more??)

Enough of that, let's talk about dogs —Poms of course. The Manitoba Pomeranian Fanciers, an informal group, has managed to get together and organized a booster at the Portage Kennel Club shows in July. I hear the entry is quite good, and the trophies really worthwhile. I have all my hopes set on the obedience one at least as I am going into the ring with my 6½ year old girl who has not been worked for over two years, but came back into her refresher course, fresher than I was! She is entered in an unofficial class, graduate novice, but intends to steal the show. I can only hope the class dogs, and specials live up to her fine example as they usually do.

Chris Cullen in Nova Scotia has a girl that is doing well and which might be finished even as I type this. A Sunnyvale girl, owned by the Smiths of Saskatoon, finished her championship at the Regina shows in May, and a WeeMite male I am showing is going over all class opposition and even over the special and on to

MIDWEST REPORT

BEVERLEY C. BERMAN

Rt. 3, Braeburn Rd.

Algonquin, Ill. 60102

On March 26th, the Western Pomeranian Club held its specialty show at the Ampitheater in Chicago. The judge was Mr. E. R. Klein. The Bicentennial motif was carried out in the red, white and blue table decorations supplied by Ray Radzinsk and his family. Lovely yarn flowers bloomed in tri-colors and tiny Poms pranced across the table covering with saucy yarn tails. It was a very fetching display.

However, a display of quite another variety marred the event. After going over the open red, orange, cream and sable class, judging was stopped when three dogs entered as "any other allowed color," all professionally handled, came into the ring. All three were orange with some sprinkling of solid black hair in the coat. The question of color classification was debated with one professional unleashing a torrent of verbosity that could be heard across the ring sans any electrical amplification. The show superintendent was called, but not the AKC rep who was seen observing. How is an orange with black hair classified? Clearly it is not sable. What then but a poorly colored orange is it? If all colors are to be judged equally, why all this splitting of hair color? Is color more important than say body structure that the open class must be divided?

At length, the judging proceeded, after the show superintendent left it up to the judge to decide what to do. So the second open class of orange dogs was passed on by the judge. The repeat of this problem came in AOC bitch class when 2 light orange bitches entered the ring, again professionally handled. This time the judge proceeded without delay to judge this second class of orange. Now if the professionals are so confused as to classification, how are the poor obtuse breeder-exhibitors to make such decisions? Clearly here is a strong case for some standard revision. It is my opinion that if all colors are to be given equal consideration, there is no need for a divided open class. It would speed up the judging procedure considerably and do away with confusion. At Tri-City Show judging was again delayed over a similar incident but this time it was the show superintendant who made the error of entering a black and tan in the wrong class.

trimming and the use of cosmetics on our Poms seems to have fallen by the way-side. The exposing of a bare tail bone, clipped like a Poodle, the use of hair spray and shaped coats were not given a second thought at the specialty, all were in evidence and seemingly ignored. The judge was just out of the hospital and not in peak condition and I feel certain that the unseemly ring behavior didn't add to his day.

Some of the familiar faces were missing at this show. Ted Lawson who has stewarded for many years was at home recovering from surgery. We also missed Edna Girardot and her bouncing Poms. However, I did get to chat with Jodie Hudspeth who came up from Georgia and Edna Voyles and their lovely dogs.

BOB went to Ch Lacey's Baron Von Ray, owned by Raymond Lacey and handled by Carolyn Coughlin. BOS to Jodi Hudspeth's Ch Wheeler's Bon Peppi's Butercup bred by Carolyn Wheeler. Best of Winners to the 9-12 puppy dog, Honeycrest Rut N Tut'n Rasberi bred and owned by Jodi Hudspeth. Reserve dog to the import Redmond Koala Bear owned by Gold Blackacre Kennels, bred by Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Clucas. Reserve bitch to Mc Kamey's Cavalier's Jennifer bred and owned by Mrs. Norris Mc Kamey. Thirty six dogs were entered with 5 absent.

At the Tri City Show held in Davenport, Iowa, the Hodsons Ch. Masterpiece took the breed and a gp 2 under Mrs. Marianne Grybinski. I have always liked this lovely little fellow and have followed his progress in the ring from puppyhood. At this show, a contingent of Oregon fanciers were present and it was so nice to hear that they were looking forward to exhibiting to my husband when he does his Vancouver show at the end of the month. I just wish it were possible for me to accompany him but with my mother ill from a heart attack my shows are far and few between. My dear friend from Australia will be coming to visit next spring and generously has offered to sit our dogs so we can make our trip to England. Doggy friends are the best in the whole world, I think.

From the Mail Bag comes news that Nadine Hersil has had a BIS at Mason City, Iowa under Derek Rayne with her homebred, Ch. D-Nees Darin Dinaden. Gus Wolf put him Gp. 1. Many congratulations. The Tri-City Show saw our Pap Ch. Stouravon Benedictine take a Gp 4 going up over the other special entered. While I have never made it a point to tout my own dogs, I am very proud of our Cardy whose first American son at the Huntsville, Alabama show not only took a five point major from BBE class but also went Best of Breed over specials and then on to a Gp 3rd. Cedarwind's Effervesence owned by the Urbans accomplished this at the tender age of 10 months, owner handled by Frank Urban. No matter how great a show record, the proof of the pudding still is in what a winner can produce in his get. Records speak for themselves and no amount of publicity bought in the magazines can ever equal the fact that a dog is only as good as what it produces. The prestige of a big win does help to point up that the Toys as a group are currently being given more consideration when it comes to BIS competition and that is as it should be. In Poms, the breed is indeed fortunate to be able to point to big winners who did indeed leave their stamp behind on their winning get.

Re the Raspberry Tea — response has been overwhelming. In fact, so much so that I would appreciate a stamped self-addressed envelope with further correspondence as my postage bill has mushroomed out of control.

I would call upon the entire fancy to re-evaluate the present standard, make color a matter of preference and drop the division of the open class. The only way to stop the illegal trimming, etc., is to put teeth back into the standard and make it a disqualification liable to protests. I have even today heard some judges remark that they don't give a fig how a Pom is groomed as long as it looks good! Enough of this phoney baloney! It is time that all faking was stopped once and for all. It is not just in our breed alone and one can always hear stories of tricks done to win, paint on a mask or a blaze or dye a white face, anything a particular breed needs to win with that nature has not provided. In this Bicentennial year, I would hope there would be a resurgence to the basic truths and freedoms that our country was founded upon.

ALONG MYWAY

by
MOLLY MILLER
P. O. Box 717

League City, Texas 77573

In my area shows come in seasons — spring and fall. As the first show of a season approaches, I find myself wondering what the competition will be like. How did last season's puppies develop? What will leach breeder be showing, etc.? Also, of interest is the question, which of last season's novice exhibitors will be with us? I did not think much about the transition from novice to seasoned exhibitor until I realized in a flash that I have never been to a show or match at which at least one person did not confide, "This is my first dog show." What makes some people grow and develop in their knowledge of the art of breeding and presenting dogs, while so many others fall by the way?

There are many varied reasons. Often experienced breeders and exhibitors are cautioned to assist the novice, and this of course is needed by both the novice and the sport of dog shows. But some novices are much easier to assist than others. As a result some novices are left to flounder helplessly while others are quickly accepted into the dog showing fraternity.

I was just plain lucky when I first began to attend shows. I could not afford a dog nor did I have a place to keep one. As a result I spent almost three years as an observer. I read all that I could find when I went to the shows and watched for the various things — type, movement, show procedure, etc. — that I had read about. It is amazing how much one can learn sitting at ringside listening. One soon learns to ignore the loudmouths and to concentrate on the quiet thoughtful observations. It is probably helpful during this period if one attends shows by himself. He cannot hear if he has a friend talking to him. During this period one learns how to ascertain all types of structural strengths and weaknesses. He also learns handling and grooming techniques, and ring procedure by watching and listening. He learns to read a catalogue and count points. I sometimes feel that a person should be required to log "X" number of hours at shows before he is even allowed to buy a "show prospect" puppy.

Unfortunately it is not always possible for a novice exhibitor to plan his entrance into the world of pure-bred dogs several years prior to the fact. Once he has a "show prospect" he is eager to begin to show, and he should; however, it is during this period of time that he can alienate the experienced exhibitors from whom he needs assistance. Most experienced exhibitors (I am grouping breeders and handlers together.) like to help novices, They love dog showing and realize that, through helping novices, they are helping their sport. Also, it is flattering to be sought for advice. However, the novice needs to use common sense in the way and times that he presents himself. Preparing dogs for the show ring is time and energy consuming. At certain times during the show day the dog deserves his handler's undivided attention. (During the beginning of my show career I was extremely fortunate in that I met several exhibitors who did not mind telling me in a straight forward manner — this is done and that is not. Perhaps my age of twenty-one helped. As I was the age of several of my friends children, they rather naturally instructed me. I have noticed that older novices are often allowed to flounder because most people hesitate to correct their elders. An older novice needs to make it clear that he wants criticism.)

The novice should learn to ask his questions when it is convenient to the exhibitor to answer. If the novice wants to ask a question about his dog to be shown that day, he should arrive early and present his question when the exhibitor is not preparing his own dogs for the ring. (In the case of the handler, the question should be timed during a period between his breeds.) If this is done, the exhibitor has time to properly evaluate and consider the question and is happy to answer it.

Physical space as well as time space is valuable at most modern dog shows. Many novices may not realize that exhibitors go to the show building the night before and move in their equipment so that they will have an adequate space in which to work. If the novice moves his equipment into a pathway or blocks the openings to an exhibitor's crates or in some way interrupts the flow of his work, he has placed an added burden on his would-be-friend. An exhibitor must work to love those who cause him trouble. The novice may find his most difficult early task to be learning to look 360° and place his equipment so that it is convenient to himself and not an obstacle to anyone else.

When the novice has located himself well in both time and place, he may begin his day. His best tool is silence. Listen and learn. A novice risks two great dangers if he expounds on a theory (1) he is boring his audience by repeating what is already well known, and (2) he is saying things that he will desperately wish to recall in a few years. When he asks a question, a novice would bend all of his powers on remembering the answer. He may (and should) ask several people the same question but never the same person twice. If an exhibitor is repeatedly asked the same question by the same person, he realizes that no attention is being paid to his answers. He then feels — Why bother with that one?

Accepting an answer seems to also be a problem for many novices. All honest critiques whether on dogs or handling contain some praise and some criticism. Both are needed if one is to improve. The novice must remember that the fact someone does not like his dog's front or the way he holds a lead does not mean that the person loves him or his dog any less. In fact he may be the one who does love them for, although a diet of praise is sweet, it will keep a novice a novice forever by allowing him to retain his errors by not acknowledging them.

Thus far we have only discussed the novice as accepting help from the exhibitor. He is not restricted to this inferior position. He can and should be a friend who adds as much as he takes from the relationship. There is much to do at a dog show much of which does not require experience.

An exhibitor showing several dogs would relish having extra hands to transport dogs to the ring or swap them at ringside. A marked catalogue is a luxury at the end of the day when an exhibitor would rather put his feet up than hang over pink and blue slips.

If a novice has been particularly aided by a busy exhibitor, he may make the exhibitor's day more pleasant by appearing with food and drink at appropriate times during the day, exercising or watching the dogs while the exhibitor takes a break, etc. The numbers of ways to be a friend are endless.

That is the clue. The relationship need not be novice-exhibitor. It may be a friendship with each friend giving of those things which the other needs.

During the course of several years, many litters, and some very active bitches and puppies, I have developed a very simple litter box that is effective for me. Since Pom bitches are light in relation to their puppies' weight, I have not found crush rails to be needed as they are with the larger breeds. As a teacher I have a never ending supply of heavy cardboard boxes sized 17" x 11" and 17" x 14". These are the sturdy boxes that duplicator paper comes in, but many other kinds would work. I cut away the flaps that form the top and tape them together to form a false bottom. I cut a small hole in the real bottom, and run the cord of the heating pad through it. I then place a few layers of newspaper on top of the false bottom and wrap papers and false bottom in a heavy towel. The false bottom is then tightly wedged over the heating pad. The tight wedging protects the heating pad from even an active bitch. The taut towel gives excellent footing and can be easily washed, and the newspapers replaced and provide an exact heat control.

Most vets and breeders agree that puppies who move to standard dog food early in life do better. However, some toy puppies are simply not strong enough to crunch regular dog food. I have found that dry kibble can be run through a kitchen blender to create a baby cereal which mixes easily with other foods.

* * * *

Meats for small puppies can be a problem as they must be cut into such small pieces. These meats may be pressured in a pressure cooker and then run through a blender to form a meat spread that mixes readily — if fowl or fish is used, it may be pressured bones and all. One hour will yield bones that can be crushed in one's fingers. Thus the puppies gain the added bone meal. Wild fowl have harder bones. Be careful of them.

If you are ever in the mood to cook for your dogs try these homemade dog biscuits. Mix 4 cups of corn meal, 2 cups of liquid (water broth, etc.), 1 T liquid shortening, 1 egg, and any meat scraps, vegetables, etc. (pressured meats are great). Bake for 25-30 min. in an oven of 375°. Cut when cool. My dogs love them better than any biscuits that I have ever bought for them.

If you try any of these items, I would like to know how they work for you.

A note from Jon and Jan Renee' of Anchorage, Alaska tells about another Pomeranian up there now making his bid for C.D.: RENEE'S WEE WARRIOR CHARLEY, owned, trained and handled by Betty Webley of Anchorage. "Warrior" scored 187 at his first show (The Dog Obedience Training Club of Anchorage on March 28, 1976) to earn his first leg in Novice. He was top scoring Pom and high scoring Toy in the trial. Betty has plans for showing him in obedience again very soon, and by this time he may already be a C.D. Oh, no, they don't stop there — at his first outing in the conformation ring at Alaska Kennel Club March 21st he was Reserve Winners. Who said you can't show successfully in obedience and conformation at the same time?

John and Rose Derham of Redwood City, California proudly report another U.D. Pom to their credit: WINDY'S SPARKLE PLENTY completed her U.D. (handled by John) at San Mateo Kennel Club on November 30, 1975, where she was third in the class with a score of 195. Their latest C.D. was acquired by SPARKLE'S STARSHINE (also handled by John) at Sir Francis Drake Kennel Club on April 18, 1976. Her scores towards the title were 187½, 189½ and 193½.

Debbie Jones of Alhambra, California is keeping us up on Pom obedience news in Southern California. She writes: "We went to Southwest Obedience Club's match April 4. Talk about "April showers"! It rained all day, drizzled on "Tillie's" Utility long stand (she stood, tho), and poured during "Murdoch's" Novice sit and down. He looked as though someone had been mopping the floors with him. But he not only stayed — he won second place with 194, only ½ point behind the first place dog — another Pom, JIMMIE, owned by Eula Roy of Los Angeles. Incidentally, when I got them in out of all that rain I found that although they appeared to be thoroughly drenched, their heavy undercoats had kept them nearly dry at the skin. They fared better than some of the larger single-coated dogs. The following week "Tillie" and I went to San Fernando Kennel Club's licensed show and trial. She was reserve winners bitch (her second breed show ever); and, just to prove that you can show in breed and obedience at the same time — she went and got a 192½ in Open B. On April 19 "Tillie" went to San Gabriel Valley Kennel Club's show and trial and again went reserve winners and qualified with a 197 in Open B obedience." Debbie's Poms are FERSHOFF'S TILLIE TOYLER, C.D.X. and SEABRIGHT ATILLA THE HUN-EY.

Obedience Poms everywhere? Yes, they seem to pop up just about all over. We've heard about them from far and wide — Alaska, Canada, Hawaii, and now this charming letter from Angie Ruiz in Puerto Rico. "I wrote this letter to tell you about my experience in obedience training. I have a Pomeranian named LIZA. I trained her myself. She was quite smart learning the obedience lessons. I showed her six months after training her and wasn't sure of making a qualifying score because I hadn't trained her with other dogs. The day of the show came — May 16, 1976 — and she made a qualifying score of 181! She stayed the one minute sit and three minute down without moving although she had two big dogs beside her. The points she lost were because I didn't know the obedience rules. Because of this I suggest that before showing in obedience, learn the rules." I love Angie's last sentence: "Before finishing, three words: Poms are great!"

SHEILA'S LITTLE RAGAMUFFIN, owned and trained by Nancy Rynewicz of San Jose, California, now has his C.D. "Muffin" finished at Oakland Dog Training Club on May 16, 1976, with a score of 195½. "Needless to say," says Nancy, "I was very pleased." They have now started Open training and are both enjoying it, so we should hear more soon.

Marvelous news from Claudia J. Frank of Wisconsin Rapids, WI. Her sable Pomeranian bitch ROCKY'S FLUF 'N PUFF (call name "Gala") has earned her C.D. degree. "She completed the degree in three straight shows in two consecutive weekends with scores of 193, 190 and 195. The first two legs were earned under very terrible weather conditions where at the first show, because of heavy continuous rains, the show building was so packed that the only time her feet touched the ground was when she was in the ring, and the second leg was earned directly outside with cold biting winds which caused the exhibitors to wear snowmobile suits. She came through all this with a happy wagging performance and was fun to work with all the time.

She always draws a crowd and really enjoys the competition and spectators. Now she is taking a break to have a litter by Ch. D-Nee's Darin' Dinadan. Then she will continue with her open work. She already loves to jump and hurdles a stick in grand style when we do exhibition work. The dumbbell doesn't seem to present any problem either. After working with Shelties and Kee-shonden for many years in obedience, I am convinced that the Pom is really the clear deal for this type of work. They are very smart and the ones I have experienced have stable, outgoing temperaments and their size makes them easy to travel with and handle at shows.

I received several replies after you printed my name in conjunction with a second in group at Mid-Canada. However, 'Hurricane', owned by Mitchells is continuing to hold his own most shows, and usually places in group, often first. (I have been told he placed as third highest winning Pom in Canada in 1975, but have not been informed of the names of the first two.) He is trying for another best in show, and looks as if he could do it.

The trend in our area is for boys, lovely and loving, but too many, so hope this is not too wide spread a trend.

See you at the shows!

course, does not apply to bitches with abnormal seasons or ones that never show color. If this is the case, arrangements should be made with the stud owner to give several breedings.

tracking and made many new friends. Thanks. We will continue work with this aim after the pups are whelped and gone. A book by Glen Johnson on tracking, recently acquired, is a valuable aid in understanding the hows and whys of tracking. He lays out a step by step schedule of lessons for obtaining the coveted TD, and we are really looking forward to beginning this method.

I whole-heartedly agree with the remarks about each individual's attempts to remove obedience from the 'step-child' category. It is hard work, but if something is worth the effort a person should really try. Our local kennel club consists of only 35 actual members but the members plus obedience class participants who are not members equal well over half that. We are small but active. At a recent all-breed obedience trial we won Highest Scoring Toy, and the trophy offered was much larger than most high in trial trophies I've seen."

For those breeders who may be interested in color-breeding . . . I have a line-bred beaver-colored male puppy, whelped April 9th. There are probably other breeders who are trying to breed this color, or, have bred them "unknowingly". I would like to use this opportunity in your "Yips & Yaps" to ask them to write to me.

A CONCERNED POM FANCIER

I'd like to congratulate Gayle Griffin for her article in the April issue of the Pomeranian Review. She is so right about judges not seeing crippled movement in the show ring. And I do believe they should be more conscientious on finding slipped stifles. It is something that should not be overlooked. Unsoundness should be grounds for disqualification. After all, aren't these dogs in the show ring supposed to be for best breeding and upgrading of the breed? And how can breeding unsound dogs be an asset to the breed? "Large-dog breeders" seem to be much more careful with their problem of hip-dysplasia. Pom breeders sometimes seem to want to keep their stifle problems a secret. They should be much more careful with this matter. We should try to lessen this hereditary defect rather than breed into it. Judges should be much more aware of this problem and should excuse any Pom with poor stifles in hopes to get better soundness and movement in our Poms. Hereditary defects we should try to eliminate, not promote! There are too many champions that do not deserve the title because of this defect that can be carried to their offspring. So judges (and Pom fanciers!) "PLEASE WAKE UP!"

Would like to tell Beverley Berman who wrote the column on raspberry tea for easy whelping and said she would like to hear from others who may have had any experience with it: I bred a six lb. bitch and gave her raspberry tablets, imported from England, they cannot be purchased in the U.S., same as raspberry tea only in tablet form. They came from the Denes Vet Lab. in England who are great believers in the "natural" way of feeding dogs. She was given these tablets daily and given double dosage during the last two weeks, nevertheless this female had a SECTION, which may I add, was not done unnecessarily, she went into labor, the water bag appeared and that was it, she did not dialate and had to be rushed to the Vet for a Section, so this is a case where raspberry did not prevent a section, also would like to mention that out of the three puppies whelped two were lost!

I would also like to voice another opinion at this time. I feel that judges, clubs, AKC, or whoever, should give more thought to the way the bite is examined in the show ring. I mean the practice of judges going from mouth to mouth with their hands to examine the bite. This is not allowed in Canada, the handler must show the bite, for in Canada they feel that the other method invites more chance of passing on diseases of any sort from one dog to another, not that people purposely bring ill dogs to shows, but sometimes one does not know when an animal is coming down with an illness he may be harboring. I have attended one cat show and was so impressed with the precautions taken there, on a table beside the judge there are bowls of disinfectant and piles of towels, the judge washes her hands in this after examination of EACH cat! I do not expect the dog fancy to go this far, but really feel the process of going from one dogs mouth to another should be changed! What do you think? Has your dog ever come home from a show and become ill and you didn't know why?

Think about it!

Beware! A midwest breeder (is suspected of) cutting newborn pups' ears to alter appearance. Apparently, pups are born with jack-ass ears and instead of breeding to correct this fault, she has found she can cut leather of ears off at birth. Two dogs were shown in our Kenosha County A-Match and Judge Ed. Klein disqualified both dogs for altered ears. Dogs were purchased through an ad found in Pom Review.
